7:47–7:52 Six key words

7:52–7:57 Quick check and short writing

7:57–8:00 Exit ticket and review

Nya waits for water

During the dry season, Nya’s family moves to a lake camp.

Water remains in the clay beneath the dry lakebed.

Nya digs and waits for muddy water to seep into a hole.

Why does living closer to water still take hours of work?

Honey brings temporary relief

The group gets honey, but the bees sting many people.

Food gives Salva enough energy to walk more easily.

He saves honeycomb and later chews the remaining wax.

What does saving the honeycomb reveal about hunger?

Marial offers companionship

Salva and Marial are the same age and both miss their families.

They walk together and share their worries.

Marial’s idea about walking around the world makes them laugh.

How does Marial help even without food or protection?

One camp, two perspectives

NYA

Likes avoiding two long walks to the pond.

Still digs and waits for water.

HER MOTHER

Dislikes temporary shelters and missing possessions.

Fears for the men when they go hunting.

Can both views make sense at the same time?

Uncle Jewiir brings support

Salva reunites with his father’s younger brother.

Uncle promises care and becomes a leader in the group.

He hunts an antelope, but Salva becomes sick after eating too fast.

How does Uncle help? What problems remain?

The ending creates suspense

The group walks through the night searching for water.

Salva wakes to crying and Uncle’s solemn expression.

Marial is missing from Salva’s view. Uncle struggles to explain.

What can we infer? What still needs confirmation?
